COMMUNITY DESCRIPTION

Farmington, Michigan – is the crossroads community at the heart of south Oakland County - one of the wealthiest in the U.S. In Farmington you'll find a hometown quality of life. Farmington people still look you in the eye and say: "Hello. You're welcome here!"

Farmington itself has 10,423 people within the city limits, a median family income of $75,578 and a median housing value of $173,900. There is no better place to live in the Metro Detroit area than Farmington. And, no better value.

Because of the excellent highway system, most sections of the metropolitan area are readily available to Farmington’s residents. Since the opening of the Walter Reuther Freeway, I-696, even the far east side is less than an hour’s drive. A number of specialized facilities provide professional sports, popular music and various other events year round. Similarly, people from other communities utilize Farmington's parks and patronize commercial recreational facilities in the City.

Livonia, Michigan – With a population of nearly 100,000, Livonia is Michigan's eighth-largest city and one of the most-stable family communities in the United States. Livonia is located in the northwest corner of Wayne County, halfway between Detroit and Ann Arbor. For decades, Livonia has ranked as one of the leading large communities for family services, education, public safety, and recreational opportunities.

Livonia is a smartly planned community where tree-lined neighborhoods are separated from industrial and warehouse sections of the city. These are among the many attributes that make Livonia one of the best places in the country to raise a family. If you want to live in Livonia, be prepared to become actively involved in your child’s education. The Livonia Public Schools are successful because as one of the ten largest school districts in Michigan they are able to offer a broad range of high-quality learning opportunities combined with outstanding parental support to provide each child an education that fits their needs.

Livonia offers a rich blend of cultural, entertainment, and family-friendly offerings. From a professional symphony orchestra to historic community venues to one of metro Detroit’s largest suburban fireworks displays, Livonia is a city that provides arts and cultural opportunities for a wide variety of interests. The city has three public libraries with many programs for children and adults. Each summer, the Livonia Civic Center and other city parks are home to outdoor, family concerts featuring various musical acts as part of the weekly “Music Under the Stars” series.

Livonia is home to several community service organizations which produce a number of successful family and fundraising events, such as the American Cancer Society’s Relay for Life and Livonia Rotary Club’s Family Picnic.
